OBITUARY

Luther Walter Jackson Jr. was born on February 15, 1944 in Los Angeles, California to Luther and Angie Jackson. His mother affectionately called him “Little Luther,” named after his dad. He was the youngest of his siblings, Ruby and Robert. As a family, they attended Pilgrim Baptist Church in Los Angeles where he first accepted Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior. He attended Sunday School on a regular basis where he made life-long friends. The foundation of the Gospel never left him. It carried him through some rough times in his life. Luther made it a priority to read the Bible and Daily Bread devotions on a regular basis.

Luther received a quality education from Los Angeles Unified School District. When he was a young child, he completed his primary education at Wadsworth Elementary School. As a teenager, he attended Carver Junior High School and Jefferson High School. During his high school years, he became popular for being funny, feisty, and handsome with pretty eyes and a cool walk. He participated on the school’s track team as a long distance runner, ran on the cross country team, and played the trombone in the school band. After he graduated from high school in 1961, he studied welding at Los Angeles Trade Tech College and graduated in 1963 with an Associates degree.

Upon completing his college education, Luther obtained his first job at Angelus Electronics in El Monte, California. His most memorable career achievements have been working for McDonnell Douglas Aircraft throughout the 70’s and 80’s and Los Angeles Unified School District in the 90’s until he retired in 2011. Even after he retired, he kept himself busy working as an apartment manager and did handy jobs for family and friends.

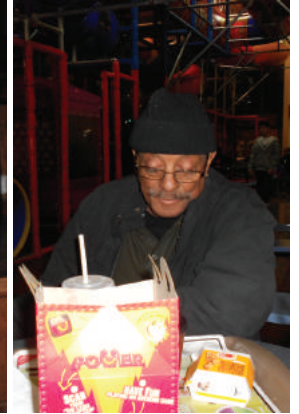

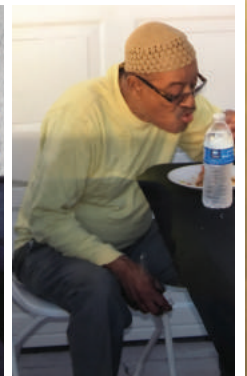

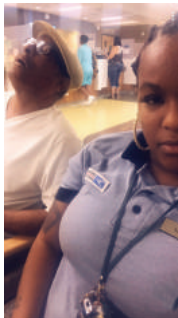

On October 25, 1985, Luther married Regina Love. Out of their union, was born their daughter, Lureon Jackson on September 21, 1986. Although Luther and Regina divorced, he continued to remain a devoted and faithful father to his daughter. There was nothing that he would not do for her including helping to take care of his granddaughters who were the apple of his eye. Not only was he a great father and grandfather, he was also a wonderful brother and uncle. He had a heart of gold.

Luther was loved dearly by his peers because he was a loyal friend who enjoyed having a good time. He cherished going deep sea fishing with his friends and cousins. During his free time, he found joy in listening to jazz music and attending the annual Jazz Festival at the Dunbar Hotel with his buddies. Throughout the years, he stayed connected with old classmates by attending the Jefferson High Alumni Picnic. Luther delighted in eating good food and shopping for nice clothes. On any given day you could catch him watching sports. There was no sport that he did not enjoy.

On February 5, 2019, our dearly beloved father, grandfather, brother, uncle, and friend transitioned to eternity with His Lord and Savior Jesus Christ at the age of 74. Luther is preceded in death by his brother Robert Jackson and survived by his daughter, Lureon Jackson; granddaughters, Terriyah and E’layiah; sister, Ruby Jackson-Lawson; sister-in-law, Mary Jackson; Aunt Evelyn Jackson-Smith; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends who loved him dearly.
